

A WORLD TRANSFORMED

THE TRANSCONTINENTAL RAILROAD AND UTAH

The Utah State Capitol

January 4th – June 2019

Opening Reception January 23

The Merrill-Cazier Library

July – September 2019

The Southern Utah Museum of Art

October – December 2019

The Park City Museum

February – March 2020

“A World Transformed: the Transcontinental Railroad and Utah,” shares the story of Utah’s contribution to the completion of the transcontinental railroad and examines the railway’s transformational effects on Utah. A partnership between Utah State University’s Merrill-Cazier Library and the Utah State Division of History, “A World Transformed” will travel the state of Utah from January 2019 through March of 2020. The exhibition draws upon the many rich historical resources held by different institutions across not only Utah but the Western United States, including photographs, maps, art, and lithographs. A condensed version of the exhibit is available for booking through the Utah Division of Arts & Museum’s Traveling Exhibits Program. An extended digital version will be available through USU University Libraries.

